Superintendent and Board confronted with

Gerald C. Bradley

Superintendent of Schools

Gerald C. Bradley became Superintendent of the Port Huron Area Schools in July, 1963 after having served as Assistant Superintendent for twelve years.

Before coming to Port Huron, Mr. Bradley was superintendent of schools in Milan, Litchfield, and Reading, Michigan. He is also a former school teacher, principal, and coach. His experience in the various areas of education serves him well in fulfilling his advisory duties and in executing Board policies.

The rise in student population and the necessity of constantly improving the school district's instructional program are his immediate concern as superintendent.

Under construction is the new high school located on Krafft Road. The school will serve the needs of the students in the northern Port Huron Area.

extensive building program

Members of the Port Huron Area Board of Education are: SEATED: A.B. Carlisle, Vice-President; Richard A. Cooley, President; and Mrs. Nicholas G. Douvas. STAND

ING: William K. Gilbert, F. Bingham Fead, H. Ford Whipple and Dr. H.J. Hazledine.

Board of Education

To maintain the high standards of the Port Huron Area Schools, members of the Board of Education have spent many hours planning for the academic and physical growth of the school district. With renewed interest in the school curriculum, the Board has held meetings twice a month, one for the purpose of examining the instructional program of the district and the other for the usual school policy planning.

Building projects have particularly occupied a great deal of the Board's time throughout the year. A major project of interest is the construction of a new high school for the northern Port Huron area students. The school is expected to be completed by mid-

November of this year. Its flexibility in design will permit team teaching or large and small group instruction. For each grade there will be grade centers, grade counselors, and grade deans. Thus, the two thousand students in the school will benefit from the advantages of both large and small schools.

Physical expansion in the school district is not limited only to high schools, however. Included in the extensive building activities throughout the district are the annex to the Harrison School, a new 17-room Sparlingville School, and an addition to the music facilities of the Chippewa Intermediate School.

Administrators provide

Miss Florence C. Wiese, our faithful, patient, and kind assistant principal works closely with the administration, the faculty, and the students.

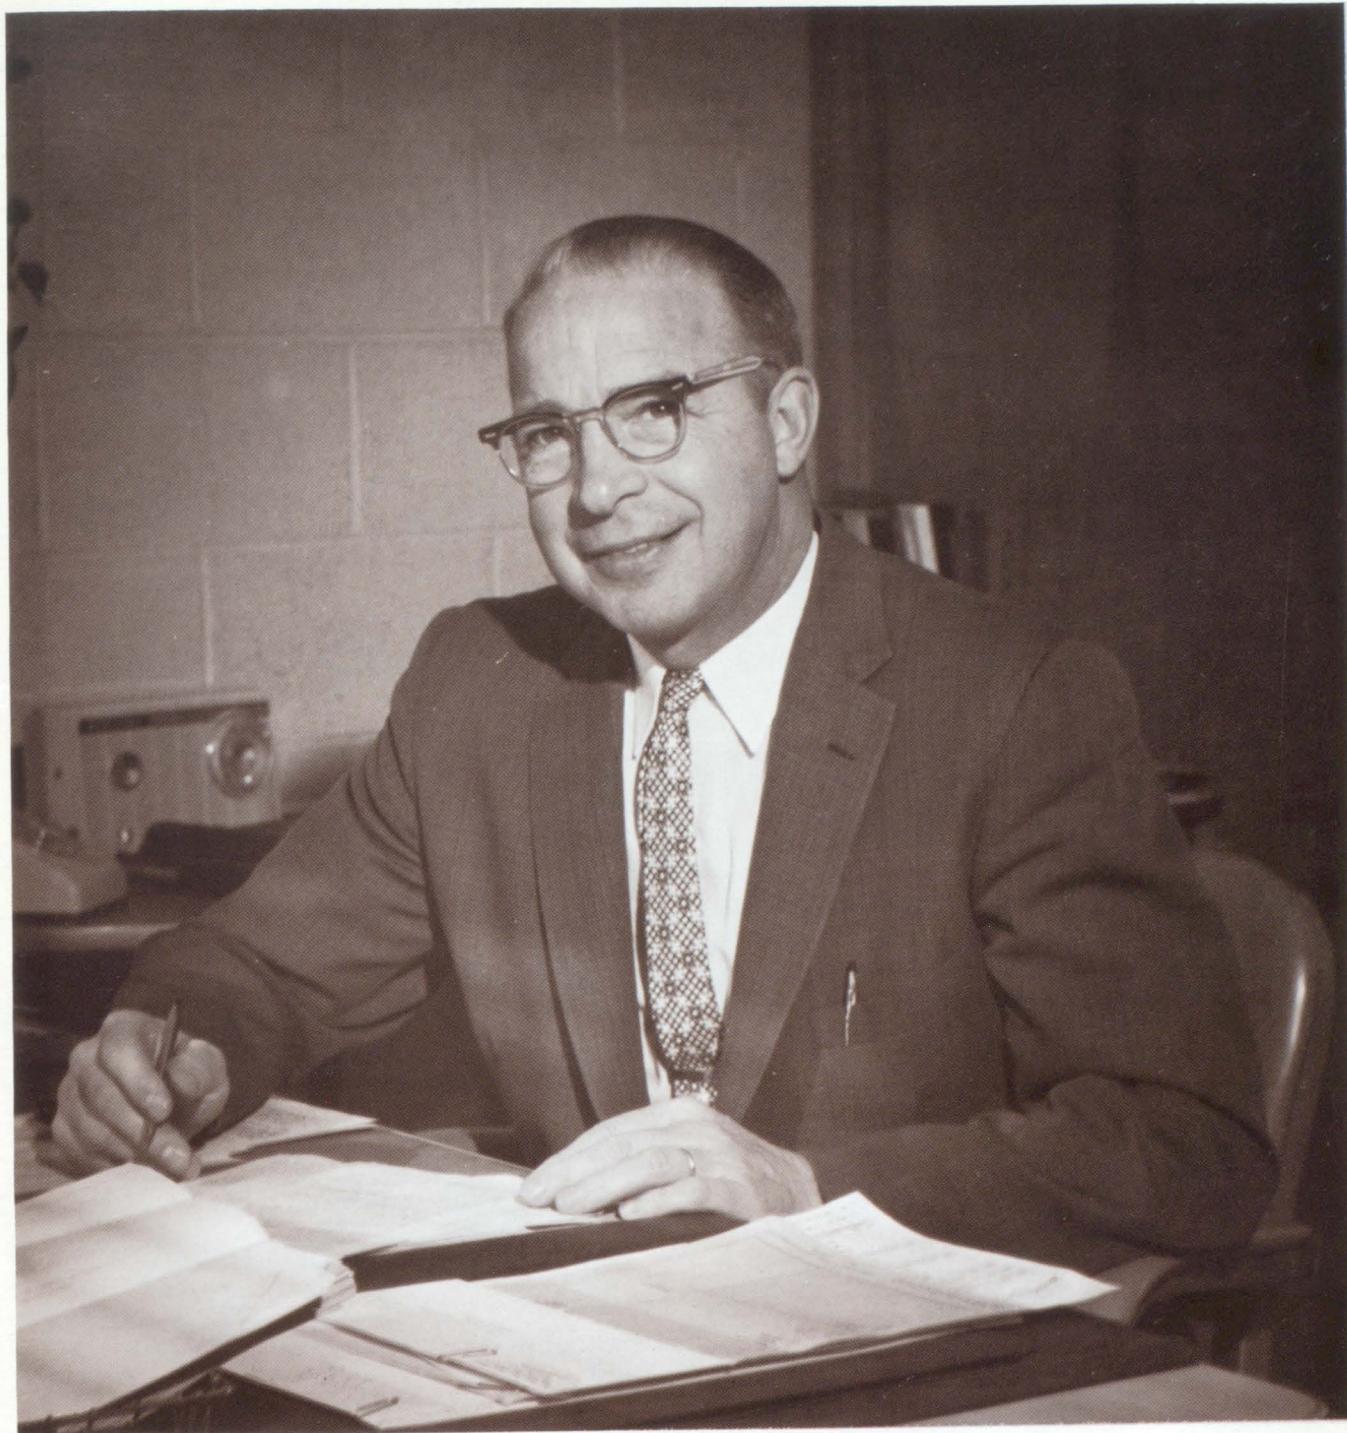

Miss Wiese is responsible for all school records and the internal accounts of the school. She also correlates the work of the counselors and supervises attendance.

Students first meet Miss Wiese at Freshmen Orientation, and later when they take the scholarship and aptitude tests.

As Seniors they consult her to obtain scholarship and college information.

The influence of her counseling, testing, and supervision will remain with students long after graduation.

well balanced curriculum

Colen J. Sommerville Principal

Realizing the importance of high scholastic standards and extracurricular activities, Mr. Sommerville plans and works diligently to see that every student is given an opportunity to develop intellectually and personally during his high school years. Even though the problems which arise due to a large student body, inconvenient scheduling and an overcrowded building keep him extremely busy, he is always willing to work with students and teachers in solving school and personal problems.

Because of his patience, understanding, and dedication, the students of Port Huron High School are proud to have Mr. Sommerville as their principal.

Duties of Administrative Assistant are numerous

Mr. Ernest Gerke
Dean of Students

Mr. Ernest Gerke, Dean of Students, keeps an active schedule during the day. In addition to timetabling all school activities, he sees that students conduct themselves according to school rules.

Mr. Gaylord Feick and Mr. James Overly, Assistants to the Principal, find that their responsibilities are numerous and varied. However, their primary concern is to assist Mr. Sommerville and Miss Wiese to carry out many administrative duties. Mr. Overly works during the morning session, and Mr. Feick, the afternoon.

In addition to working with teachers, students, and the activities of the morning session, Mr. Overly is busy this year with specific planning for the new high school -- last fall he was chosen to be principal.

THE LEAF

Joyfully he spread his shining face to the warm sun,
Fresh, young, eager
A kind, understanding breeze
Caressed the verdant face
Flawless diamonds of morning dew
His emerald cheeks were made lustrous
He laughed with the world
From the very top of the tree.

But an early autumn chill
Smote the green from the leaf
Ruthlessly ripped it from the slender twig,
Dashed it to the cold earth.

If one would listen carefully, he could hear,
Mingled into a distant wind,
The mournful note of a distant bugle,
And did the tall tree tremble and weep golden tears?

Students appreciate beauty of local sights

Port Huron High School is successful in keeping with its old traditions even though it has been perplexed with double sessions for two years. This "split personality" does not hinder the progress of the student body. The Student Councils plan for more activities and opportunities for every student. School dances, amusing pep assemblies, plays, concerts, and class projects promote friendship and good will.

Various athletic functions serve as a device for uniting both morning and afternoon students whether it be in actual participation or spirit.

Many students gain a sense of service and belonging through numerous club organizations.

The student body also brings honor to Port Huron High School by its good conduct in and out of school, its scholastic achievements, and its interest in community, national, and international affairs.

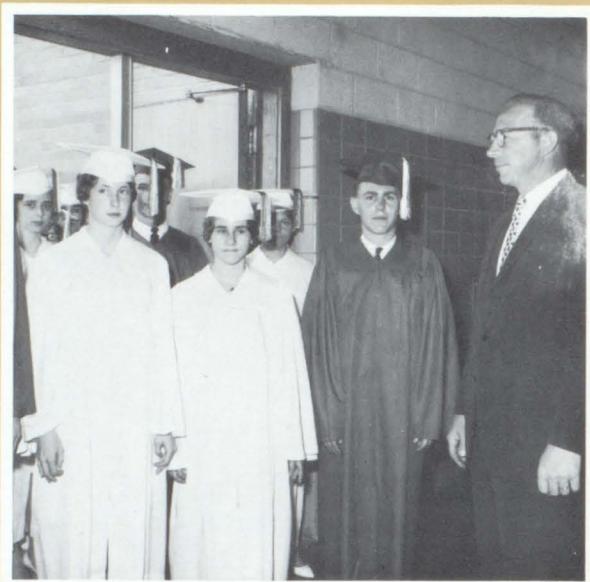

The time will soon be here when students in each session will be in separate schools, but the enjoyable experiences at Port Huron High School will always remain in the memories of every student. Thus, the future citizens of this community will be joined by a common bond.

Seniors eye the future

Marching in red and white caps and gowns is a colorful and impressive feature of graduation exercises at Port Huron High.

Principal Colen J. Sommerville watches proud Seniors as they march in to their last assembly.

Joyce Reckner and Diane Burns find the benches along the hall windows, a gift from a former senior class, useful for studying a few moments before homeroom.

At Port Huron High School every student has the opportunity to join organizations, cultivate interests, develop leadership qualities and athletic abilities, and make new friends. However, the primary purpose of any educational institution is to help its students achieve their goals through intellectual improvement. Students realize that in order to obtain gainful employment and a promising future education they must be serious about their studies. A serious student will find that high school graduation is only the first of the many rewards he will receive for his labors.

with hope and determination

Many people of the community, including Seniors from Port Huron High School, heard Governor George Romney explain his proposed tax reform at the McMorran Auditorium.

As Mr. James Duncan listens, Senior Gary Smith asks Governor Romney a question concerning his tax program. Such experience will help Gary and his fellow classmates when their learning must be practically applied.

Friendly foreign exchange students Fernando Orozco of Uruguay, Elisabeth Olin of Finland, Bengt Bengtsson of Sweden, and Walburga Asse of Germany give Linda Lalley a geography lesson when they point out the location of their native countries.

Participation in school activities

When students from the northern area of Port Huron leave after a morning school session, afternoon students from the southern area arrive for the homeroom period which begins at 12:35.

The student, because of his youth is full of life. He is eager to experience new things, to share his joy with others, and to spend exciting moments with his classmates. He is thrilled by competitive games. He is moved by a small child's actions. He strives to succeed. He is proud of the accomplishments of his contemporaries. In order to give the student an opportunity to use this energy and enthusiasm constructively, the school provides numerous outlets. It is certain that behind every school play, club, project, or athletic event there is that vigorous force of the student.

Excitement, disappointment, concentration, and good sportsmanship are all part of the game to the student.

results in friendship and understanding

Members of the National Honor Society sponsored a Christmas party for twelve small children. The party was held at the home of Sara Johnson. By popular request, Mr. Allen Phillips appeared as Santa Claus.

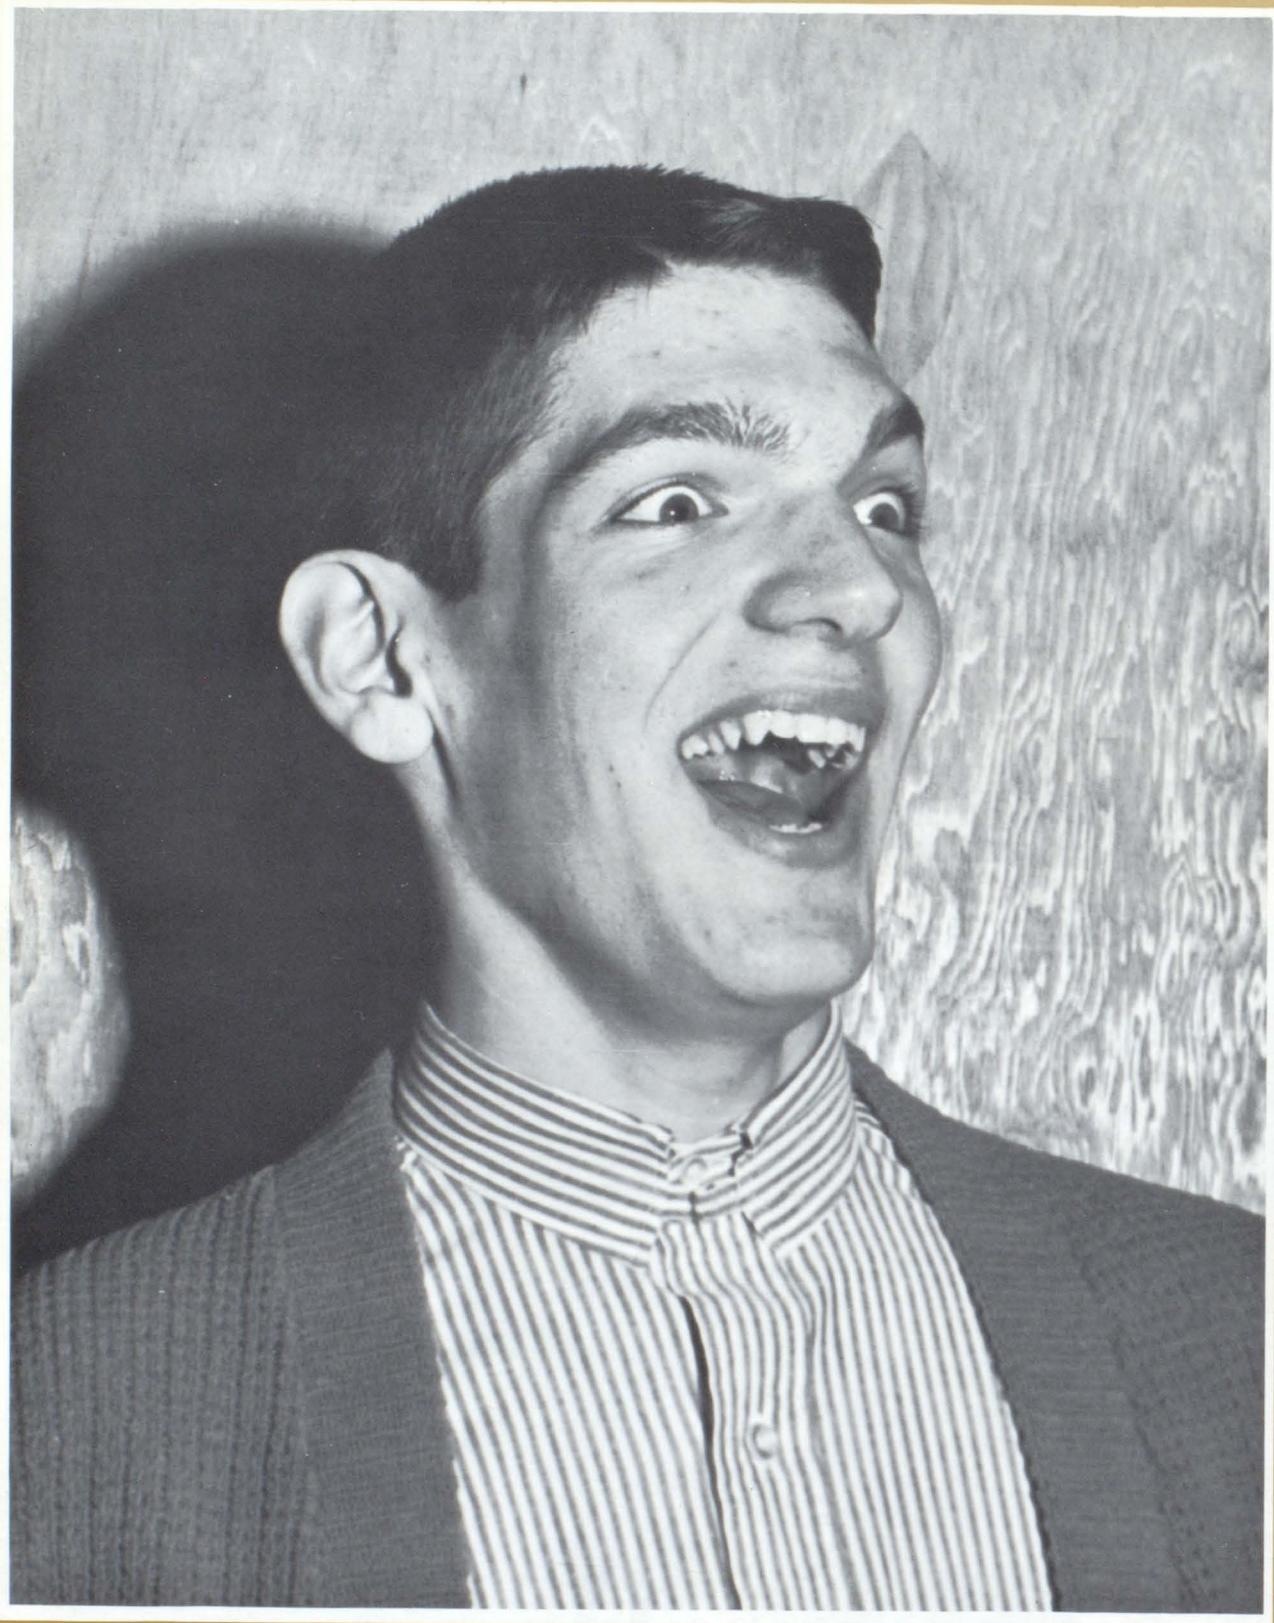

During a typically entertaining and amusing pep assembly, several members of the A Capella Choir staged a Hootenanny.

The annual Christmas Canned Food Drive is a popular holiday activity sponsored by the Student Council. Class competition and a desire to promote the holiday spirit at Christmas inspired students to donate a record number of cans this year to the Salvation Army collection.

STUDENTS - - the personality

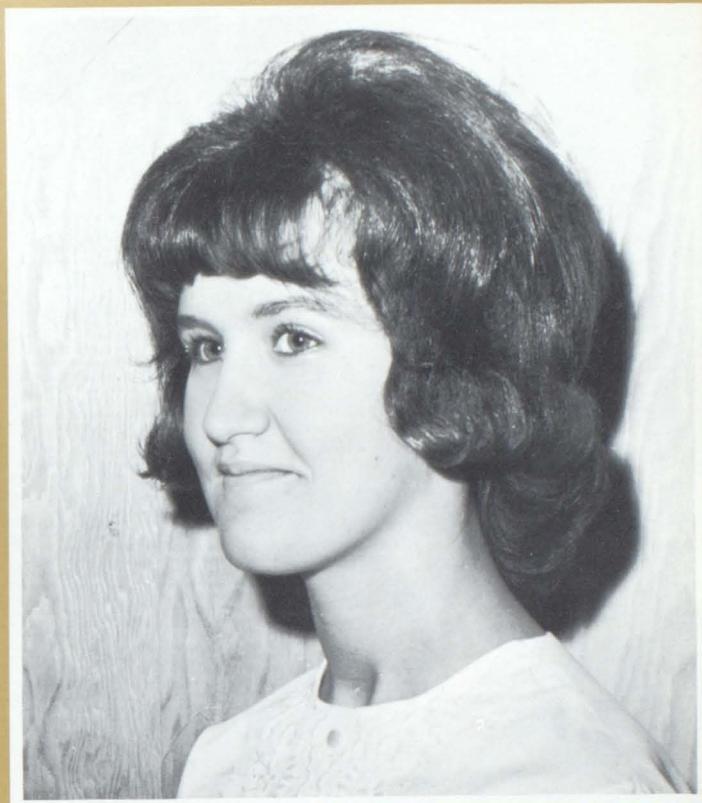

Whether it be the excitement over a test grade, a pretty girl, or the winning of a game, Senior Lawrence Krabach expresses the genuine enthusiasm likely to be shown by every student at Port Huron High School.

Jennie Rossow reflects the warm friendship found among Port Huron High School Juniors.

Freshman Terry Henry is surprised to learn that so many different activities are sponsored by Port Huron High's Student Council, individual classes, and clubs.

A typical sophomore, Marilyn Lester, finds that her learning provokes her to spend time steeped in her own thoughts.

ACTIVITIES

THE STUDENT matures emotionally and socially...

As society grows more complex, the student strives to find his identity in the complexity of school life. He examines the various outlets of his educational institution. Through this examination he finds that his interests may be satisfied through numerous school activities. The desire to form a balanced personality is fulfilled through these activities. A balanced student adapts himself to all types of people. He develops a mature and cooperative attitude toward his teachers and fellow students. This indirectly contributes to successful studying.

"Check the Knights" came in third place for the sophomore class

Fourth place float, "Hold the Knights," was presented by the freshmen class.

The Future Teachers Association won first prize for the best decorated car--"The Dunce goes to Big Red Knight School."

The Homecoming activities at P.H.H.S. were very different and new to the foreign exchange students, Walburga Asse, Germany; Bengt Bengtsson, Sweden; and Elizabeth Olin, Finland.

all part of a successful Homecoming

Juniors received second prize for their float, "We'll Take Anything But De-Feet."

Donald LaTurno puts the finishing touches on the Senior's first prize float, "Devour the Knights."

While Mr. Colen Sommerville, principal, greets the crowd, everyone waits in expectation for Council President Martha Ammerman to announce the Homecoming Queen.

"Take five," was rarely heard by the thirteen-member cast rehearsing "Anastasia," presented December 13 and 14 at McMorran Auditorium. The story of Anastasia, sole survivor of the royal family during the Bolshevik Revolution, makes exciting drama.

Anna, a peasant girl lost in the midst of amnesia, is persuaded by three men to change her identity to that of her Imperial Highness Princess Anastasia Nicholaevna.

The men bring the Dowager Empress, who was once the Mother of the Czar of Russia, to meet the girl in hopes that the two would recognize each other. One woman fumbles with half awakened memories, the other fights against the opening of old wounds.

The leading characters were Kathleen Collins, Martha Ammerman, Carl Miller, John Stimson, and Allen Drescher. Susan Philko was the Student-director and Mr. Charles Lutz was Faculty Advisor.

"Why won't you accept me?" pleads Anastasia (Martha Ammerman) to the Empress (Kathleen Collins).

"But this is not an asylum!" Petrovin (John Stimson) assures Anastasia (Martha Ammerman).

The afternoon yearbook staff worked hard alphabetizing and filing pictures of all students.

Mrs. Daphine Rantanen, "Student" advisor, and Ruth Flaherty, index editor, go over some last minute checking of the index.

Striving constantly to improve the quality of the publication, the "Lighthouse" today works closely with this organization, Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and the Interscholastic Press Association.

The thirty members of the journalism classes produce and publish, not only the "Lighthouse", but each week cover additional school news for the Times Harold.

The main commodity of a school paper is news coverage. A newspaper also strives to create and express school opinion, to capitalize the achievements of the school, to stimulate worthwhile activities, and to educate the community as to the work of the school. These functions place a heavy responsibility on the shoulders of every staff member.

During the current school year the "Lighthouse" has received several special recognitions: Columbia Scholastic Press Association rated it second in Class A schools in the annual national newspaper contest; seven individual awards were won in the state school press contest for Michigan Week; and first place for a feature in a National Auto Safety contest won a hundred dollar award.

New dances and good music -

D'wanda Headd and James McMillan dance to one of the top tunes of '64, "She Loves You," by the Beatles.

The Continentals — William McKenzie, Charles Winters, Fred Mayers, and Dave Klink entertain students at school functions.

Class of '64 presents "Shangri La--J-Hop"

These classmates of '64 and their dates are ready for an enjoyable evening in Shangri-La: Richard Myers, Marian Johnson, Kendra Johnson, Allen Drescher, Marsha Hill, and Douglas Ackerman.

"Shangri La"

Mysterious and intriguing "Shangri La" was the scene of the J-Hop sponsored by the class of '64. The Oriental decorations featured a golden Buddha and a magnificent pagoda. A friendly dragon guarded the entrance of the enchanted land and an exotic Goddess charmed the dancers.

Co-chairmen Allen Drescher and Marsha Hill supervised the work of the industrious committee members. Faculty and student committee chairmen were Miss Marion Rowe and Marian Johnson, decorations; Miss Isabelle Frankhauser and Mary Olson, refreshments; Mrs. Edythe Patterson and Loretta Nault, Patrons; Mr. Clarence Wade and Kathleen Collins, Music; Miss Caroline Winborn and Linda Emig, Tickets.

Mrs. Marian Houck and Mr. Thomas Rossler were sponsors of the Junior Prom.

Because of the co-operation of everyone, Shangri-La was one of the best J-Hops ever produced at Port Huron High School.

Beverly Murray and Harry Rambaum sit out a dance near the mighty green dragon, an eye-catching feature of the dance.

For the past thirteen years Port Huron High School has played host at the annual Senior Government Day of St. Clair County. Every year more schools have joined the program so that at the present time it is the largest in the state of Michigan. Government Day was originated in order to acquaint area high school seniors with leaders in all levels of government and with the various jobs associated with government.

This year Government Day convened at Mc Morran Sports Arena on April 30. More than 1,470 seniors from all area high schools listened to 140 resource people talk on 30 different topics. The meeting lasted from 9:00 A.M. to 3:00 P.M. During the morning session, all of the students met to hear talks by students and resource people. After lunch, smaller discussion groups of fifty students were held. Each group discussed with experts one particular field of our government. Juniors from Port Huron High School acted as hosts and hostesses.

In order to prepare the morning students for the time when they will be a new student body and give the afternoon students an opportunity to work on their own, the Student Council was divided into two separate organizations for the second semester. Thus, the Executive Board was divided from one guiding body into two. Each Board still consists of that council, committee chairmen, and at least two representatives from each class. However, only plans and problems of that individual session are considered.

he develops his own interests...

Even the most devoted student finds that in order to remain mentally alert it is necessary to set aside time for leisure. This leisure time is important to the student because it allows him to pursue interests connected with, but not involved in his studies. In order to provide for the student an opportunity to share his interests with others, clubs are organized at P.H.H.S. for him and his fellow students. The wide variety of clubs within the school shows that members of the student body are active and interested in everything from skiing to parliamentary procedure. As a result of the student's association with a club or clubs, he becomes a more happy, healthy, and helpful citizen.

Have you seen the cute little beanies popping in and out of the crowds? Naturally, they are worn by the more enthusiastic P.H.H.S. students at most sports events. This was one of the projects of the reorganized Pep Club.

The club meets once a week before all games, both home and away. They schedule busses to away games and supply plenty of spirit for the home games.

New cheers, old yells, peppy cheerleaders, and dedicated followers are all part of the club's purpose.

Future Nurses

Officers are: BOTTOM ROW: D'wanda Headd, Treasurer; Linda Lalley, President; and Ann Henry, Vice-President. TOP ROW: Marcia Klink, Program Chairman; Shirley Mosure, Corresponding Secretary; and Beth Linscheid, Recording Secretary.

The Future Nurses Club offers training to girls who are interested in the nursing profession.

Members of the group volunteer their services to the Port Huron Hospital each day from four to six and on Saturday and Sundays. The second-year and third-year members work at the Margaret Jenks Unit.

Club members, sponsored by Mrs. Marion Fawcett, hear interesting speakers from related fields of medicine at the regular meetings at 7:30 P.M., the first and third Tuesdays each month.

Patients are made more comfortable by the services of Frances Gilbert and Marsha Biernot as part of their duty for the Volunteer Nursing Program.

After feeding the patients, Frances Gilbert, Lucinda Crackel, Janice Carey, and Marsha Biernot assist in collecting the trays and returning them to the kitchen.

Not shown is Mr. Larry Miller, Sponsor.

The Future Teachers of America are young people who want to learn more about the teaching profession.

Other than the regular meetings which are held the second and fourth Tuesday of each month, they meet with other Future Teacher groups from different cities to exchange views and ideas to help them understand the advantages and the responsibilities of teaching. They also have guest speakers, panel discussions, movies, and other activities pertaining to teaching.

The club is successful under the sponsorship of Mr. Larry Miller and Mrs. Audrey Morris.

In this candlelight scene, the president, Cherie Millikin is installing new members. This is one of the first activities of the Future Teachers Association.

Club members make important decisions as to activities and projects throughout the year.

Young Democrats

The young Republicans and Young Democrats help out in elections in various ways: passing out campaign literature, babysitting and campaigning from door to door. They held rallies to get more students interested in their purpose.

Both groups look forward to each election with great enthusiasm, ready to help in whatever they can. They are looking forward to the national campaigns next summer.

The sponsor of the Young Democrats is Mr. Homer Sims; the Young Republicans, Mrs. Edythe Patterson.

The Parliamentary Law Club is interested in the study of the way meetings and legislative bodies are conducted. A great many laws are passed or defeated by Parliamentary Procedure.

The procedures of the Parliamentary Law Club are ruled according to the "Robert's Rules of Order" or "Rules of Order of the State Legislature."

The Club visits various meetings throughout the year: the Board of Education, the City Commission, other civic organizations, the State Legislature and the Courts.

Club members enjoy an interesting social activities' program: sports, Cinerama, stage plays, and touring.

Great Books Club

The Great Books Club was organized this year for students who wish to further their reading, understanding, and appreciation of outstanding books.

Mrs. Ruth Douvas promoted the program and Mrs. Ruby Clemons, of the high school English Department, arranged for students to join the club.

Approximately fifteen afternoon students attend the meetings which are held once a month on Wednesday evenings, and about twenty morning students attend the meetings which are held once a month on Wednesday afternoons.

Guest speakers discuss with the groups many interesting books which they have read, such as: "Antigone," and selections by Plato.

A skier is a very special person. He must be special because who else would brave sub-zero temperatures and spine-chilling winds to schuss down a snow-covered slope, slip over the crest of a mogul, cross his ski tips, slide on his back to the bottom of the hill and still say, "I love it!"

Why does he love to ski? First, there is that element of danger that makes it so exciting. Then there is comradeship. A skier is a friendly, casual person, and thoroughly enjoys the company of his fellow skiers. Third, skiing, like most other sports, and winter sports in particular, is exhilarating, exciting, and ever-changing.

THIRD ROW: Lyndon Shinn, Sharon Perkins, Michael Naruta, and Sandra Albers. FOURTH ROW: Thomas Riggs, Ronald Sturmer, Claude Stanlake, and Rex Gilbert. TOP ROW: Glen Green, Sandra Sutton, and Stephen Wilson.

Members of the Russky Kruzhok (Russian Club), look forward to interesting meetings which are held the first and third Thursdays of each month. The programs vary: films or slides may be shown, talks or readings may be given, or there may be a Russian-style party.

Second-year Russian students with a C average in Russian and second-semester Russian students with a B average are eligible for membership.

The Russian Club was organized by Miss Mildred Rush in October of 1963 to promote the enjoyment and understanding of the Russian Language.

SPORTS

he grows in stature as well as in mind...

Contrary to the opinion of many, every student is involved in school sports during every year of his high school career. He may be the football quarterback, the cross-country runner, the G.A.A. council member, or the cheering student in the stands. Regardless of who or what the student is he has a desire to find excellence in the athletic abilities of the student body. As the importance of physical fitness is being realized more and more, the student is becoming more closely associated with the athletic program of his school. It is the hope of many that soon every student will participate in an extensive and interesting athletic program offered by this school.

Coach Robert Hayes, during his fifteen seasons as head football coach, has compiled a record of 74 wins, 54 loses, and seven ties. The Big Reds won 37 games and clinched three Eastern Michigan League titles between 1949 to 1953. A winning streak of 26 games flashed on the records during the years of 1951 and 1953. Again in 1957 the Big Reds won the E.M.L. title.

This retiring head football coach has always emphasized fair play and good sportsmanship rather than coaching the game from the standpoint of winning only.

Good sportsmanship which was instilled in his players will live on, even though he is retiring from those he influenced.

The Port Huron football officials presented Coach Robert Hayes with an outstanding coaching award. Because of his cooperation throughout many seasons as head football coach, it was a great pleasure to present this award to such a deserving man.

SENIORS

he learns to think...

The Senior has status. The Senior has respect. For three years he has traveled the sometimes rough and sometimes smooth road of high school. He is on the last stretch. As they travel, underclassmen look ahead to him. What has he done? What is he doing? What will he do? The Senior sets the example. He must show qualities of leadership. Interest in school affairs and a mature attitude toward education are important. His thirst for knowledge and his exuberance must act as a contagion to spur on those he influences. Yet as he nears the end of the road, he must be prepared to turn the corner and start traveling an even more challenging road. He must look ahead to face the challenges and responsibilities of his generation. Words such as nuclear science, Peace Corps, and astronauts are now, and will be even more, a part of his life. His education has not terminated with high school. He cannot be a recluse. His success depends on his future contribution to society.

The Senior class officers are proud to wear their caps and gowns after a busy year of leading class activities. They are: Neil Lamb, Treasurer; Margaret Benson, Secretary; Mary Meno, Vice-President; and Steven Hill, President.

Let us join our hearts together
As we pledge our loyalty,
And we'll look to Alma Mater
For hopes to cherish endlessly.

In our hearts that are united
Are thoughts that never die,
We will keep in our memory always
This our own Port Huron High.

Though the years ahead may number
More than those we've left behind,
Still the dreams will always linger
In our hearts, our lives, and our minds.

And may always we endeavor
To make achievements great,
So Port Huron may be proud
Of all those who graduate.

As their big year ends, Seniors practice for Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

that makes us what we are",

"THE RED-WHITE FIGHT SONG"

Come on and--Join our song for Port Huron High
The best school in this land.

Grand and glorious we'll be victorious,
The Red and White shall stand.

Oh, she's the stronghold of our community,
She stands for all that's Right!

So fight, fight, fight for Alma Mater.
And show them with our might.

CHORUS:

Fight! Fight! Fight! Fight!
On to victory

Fight! Fight! Fight! Fight!
Shall our watchword be.

So come on join our song for Port Huron High.
Champions now are we!

So fight, fight, fight for Alma Mater
And sing for victory.

The PHHS graduating student will often look back on one event during his high school career as the most memorable, most exciting, or most rewarding.

What moment will a member of the Class of "64" remember best? Will it be the wonderful time he had at the J-Hop, "Shangri La," sponsored by his class? Will it be the exciting and suspenseful moment when the Senior float, "Devour the Knights," was announced first place winner in the Homecoming float competition? Or might he remember the talented students who staged the Senior play, "Anastasia"? Perhaps he will think of the hoarse voices he and his classmates had after cheering loud and long at games, or the feeling of a day well-spent he had at the end of Senior Government Day.

Many a Senior will remember the busy Senior Prom time with its exams, parties, and picnics. Of course, no Senior will forget the impressive Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises. Whatever a Senior remembers best about his high school years will influence him throughout his life. The ability possessed by the members of this year's Senior Class to work as hard as possible for improvement of themselves, their school, and their community will impel them to live with the desire to improve and succeed.

Members of the Co-op Department

Elizabeth Jurk, Ruth Carpenter, and Sandra Porrett practice methods of salesmanship with the new materials in the new sales unit.

Co-op students arrange the Christmas display in the window of the Holiday House in downtown Port Huron. They are: Eugene Adolph, Robert Evans, Mary Williams, James Nedela, Alice Stewart, Dennis Kish, Ilona Kidder, Duane Minock, Norman Maxwell, and Jack Mart n.

Seniors preparing for the adult working world may now benefit from the new and modern facilities of the Co-op Department. Co-op, recognized as an important part of the curriculum, has a new room with a sales counter and display window. These facilities give the trainees an opportunity to practice their acquired selling techniques.

The one hundred and twenty students enrolled are divided into three sections: office practice, retail training, and trade and industrial training.

appreciate new training facilities

The modern sales training unit of the Co-op Department with its counter, display case, shelves, cash register, and signs gives Seniors an opportunity to practice selling techniques and merchandising methods learned in the classroom.

Each Co-op student takes related subject courses to supplement his work experiences. The office practice group takes advanced shorthand and typing and office machines, while the trade and industrial groups concentrate on the shop courses--machine shop, wood shop, electrical shop, and auto theory. The retail group is given "Co-op related class" to study salesmanship, merchandising, and advertising.

Seniors obtain further training by working in seventy-six different business establishments. Their employers observe and record their skills, personal habits, and attitudes.

Having completed a successful working year, the Co-op students are honored at a graduation reception with a special diploma.

Marlene Wiley and Leslie Barnes arrange a clothing display in the large new Co-op unit window.

Every Senior knows the importance of good class organization, especially in the Senior year. The homeroom representatives who make up the Senior steering committee are especially busy with the various activities for raising money for the class treasury and with plans for graduation activities. These representatives convey opinions and ideas from their homerooms to the steering committee and report back to the homeroom the decisions of the committee.

complete the Senior's year

Seniors swing to the rhythm of the Continentals at the Lighthouse Dance.

Sara Johnson and Fernando Orozzo read class motto on the Senior bulletin board.

"They just aren't making baskets as big as they used to," claims Mark Older; but Robert Brown thinks that Mark is just getting bigger.

Poor Richard DeLacy just couldn't make Mr. George Wolfe believe he was a teacher entitled to a space in the assigned parking area. Carol Clancy, Kathleen Hall, Mary Olson and Jon Case were no help at all.

Seniors shine in Student Council

First - Semester Student Council

BOTTOM ROW: Wendi Stevens, Susan Fox, Martha Ammerman, President; James Bonadio, Vice-President; and Marian Johnson. SECOND ROW: Patricia Nelson, Ellison Wefel, Frederic Stanley, Walburga Asse, and Elisabeth

Second - Semester Student Council

Linscheid, Sylvia Babcock, Susan Philko, Bonnie Hazledine, Carolyn Zawacki, Walburga Asse, Mary Maxwell, Elisabeth Olin, and Nyla Nutt.

Seniors have fun, fun, fun !

The Continentals did a fine job imitating the Beatles and entertaining at the Lighthouse dance.

School can be a family affair, too! Introducing the four Henrys, one representing each class: Margaret, 11th; Elizabeth, 12th; Virginia, 10th; and Barbara, 9th.

Everyone can tell that David Chiapelli and Sue Slaught have loads of fun when they do the Shimmy.

Busy Seniors from each session find a little time to get together at noon to keep in touch with their fellow classmates.

The "Student" staff thanks Sigmund Runyon (right) for the great job he did and for the many hours he spent taking and developing pictures for the yearbook. Sigmund was most co-operative with staff members in helping them meet their deadlines.

The staff also thanks Greg Bruen for his ready and willing help on special pictures.

P. H. H. S. bids farewell to Mighty Seniors

Seniors and underclassmen find using the school library facilities to their advantage. Novels, biographies, and magazines are read and used frequently. Sharon Wheelihan, Senior Co-op student, checks out a book for Sandra Hayes. Gene Sawdon, also a Co-op student, arranges books for replacement on the shelves.

Honor Society Initiation Assembly

Four Senior members of the National Honor Society gave speeches on the qualifications required by members of the Society. Allen Drescher spoke on Scholarship; Barbara Johnson, Character; John Stimson (Master of Ceremonies); Marsha Hill, Service; and Mary Meno, Leadership. After the speeches were read, the new members were announced.

UNDERCLASSMEN

he learns to get along...

Through the eyes of the freshman, the school has a cold and impersonal facade. Unfamiliar faces greet him. The objects which surround him are foreign and bewildering. However, every day he finds more and more individual qualities in the school and its people. He grows, and his ideas mature. Soon he has the honest enthusiasm of a seasoned sophomore. As a sophomore, his mind is challenged and encouraged. He finds himself confident and motivated - eager to face bigger and better things. His vitality increases as he advances to his junior year. He uses his abilities to their utmost. He faces the complexities of life with determination. He has replaced boredom and apathy with thoughts and meditation. With his advancing age, experience, and education he is developing the ideas and standards of his whole life.

Juniors keep busy

Linda Tipa and George Beauchamp work on daily assignments in bookkeeping class.

Shorthand is the professional language of the business world. First year students begin with an introduction to shorthand characters. Soon they start practicing brief forms in preparation for dictation on familiar material. In second year, students work for speed and accuracy hoping to reach goals of one hundred words a minute or more.

Bookkeeping, a direct path to job opportunities, offers students the chance to learn the reading and writing of written ledgers, journals, and balance sheets. The study of budgeting and accounting will assist them in life as business people and homemakers.

Sandra Hill, Patricia Weiss, and Annette Klass write brief forms on the board for other shorthand students to observe.

throughout school year

Students in homemaking learn skills in cooking and correct table etiquette. Their studies also include the house itself and all of its furnishings; the family and all of its needs; budgeting, marketing, foods, and clothing as well as a happy relationship within the home. This training helps them become better homemakers in the future.

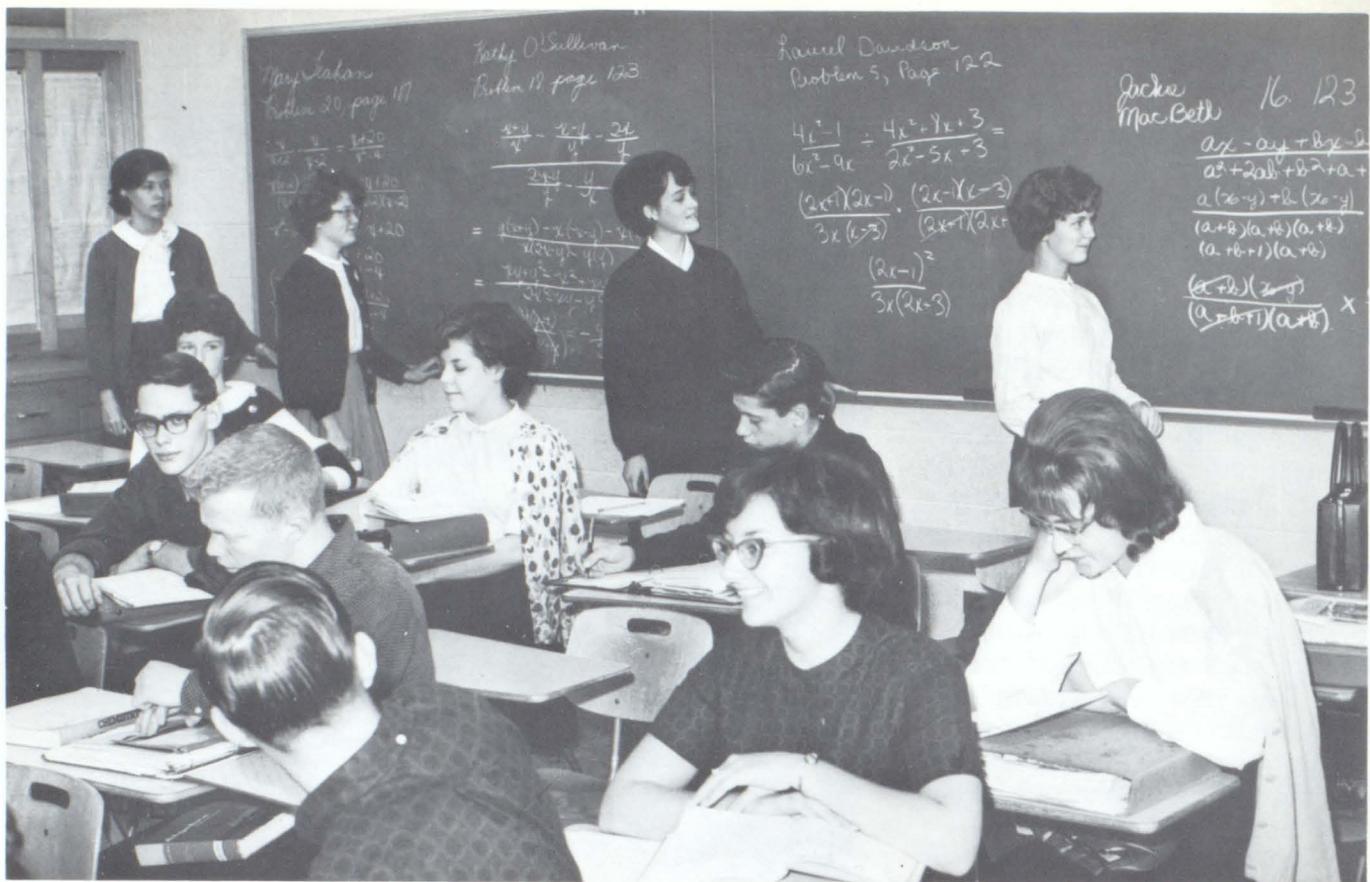

Students in clothing become familiar with new textile fabrics, more difficult clothing patterns, remaking garments, making alterations, and correct pressing techniques.

Clothing students learn sewing techniques in class.

Joyce Blythe, Betty Koebke, and Jackquelyn Manzel cut out dress patterns in advanced homemaking class.

Second-year algebra students work daily problems on the board as fellow classmates check their problems on paper.

Good luck, juniors, in

Mr. Gale Ahearn's third-year Spanish students pronounce vowels of the Spanish alphabet. After completing the material covered in first- and second year courses, students move on to obtain their majors.

Judy Sloan, a member of Mr. Edward Bargiel's office machines class, learns to operate the graphotype machine. This is one of the many machines offered to aid students in their future business careers.

your coming Senior year

Juniors give their dollar to Mr. Douglas Boyse before they start out on the bus ride for an away game.

"Even in school, juniors can't be serious all the time," remark Paul Blackney, Larry Eichenberg, and Thomas Perry.

During Fire Prevention Week the Port Huron Fire Department observes the high school's fire drills. Students evacuate the building orderly and as quickly as possible. Similar drills are conducted at regular times throughout the year. These practice drills help educate students in case of an emergency.

Being well acquainted with the use of the card catalogue helps Edward Simson, Kristena Limberg, and Thomas Perry with reports and term papers.

Junior Class Sponsor, Mr. Charles Lutz, is presented an onion by Marilyn Runk, "Lighthouse" student. Oh well, you can't win them all.

General business provides education in insurance, banking, travel, communications, transportation and shipping services, and keeping personal records. Students in these classes are required to make written reports on occupational and industrial study. This helps each individual student plan for a career in which he may make his greatest contribution to his personal and economic well-being.

Physical fitness is the main goal

The girls health education classes do not take the idea of physical fitness lightly--they do calisthenics daily.

Miss Dorris Teachout's A.M. classes strive to do the maximum number of push-ups.

in all gym classes

William Letzgus, Richard Marshall, William Dickenson, and Terry Henry are working on the parallel bars to build up their arm muscles.

Physical fitness and body development is stressed in all of the boys' physical education classes. A part of each class hour is devoted to calisthenics and the rest to sports activities.

Team work is shown by the boys in football, basketball, baseball, and soccer activities.

A thorough study of First Aid prepares the boys for future emergency situations. They practice bandaging, artificial respiration, and the treatment of burns, shock, and cuts.

Good grooming habits are also discussed and practiced. These activities will benefit the boys in future years.

Push-ups are part of the physical fitness tests given to every boy.

Football fans braved the brisk fall weather to follow the Varsity and Junior Varsity football teams at all home and away games. Freshmen get acquainted

Trying to relax between sessions, Frank Cooper and Karen Richards are about to be surprised by a Sophomore, John Kellogg.

It's somewhat startling to look up and find that you are looking a flashbulb in the face while trying to "keep the beat."

The anxious Sophomores practice smiling for the yearbook photographer as they wait their turn.

In the spring and fall, art students, taught by Mr. John Ishler, move their projects to the outdoors. These girls are painting landscape scenes as they see them. The informal atmosphere encourages creativity and self-expression.

with many of the upperclassmen

Dream . . . Dream . . . Dream . . . that's what Nancy Shier seems to be doing as she dances with Gene Sawdon.

Leaders Patricia Barrett and Loretta Nault are giving the flexibility test to Health Education students to check their flexibility. Successfully passing the test are Judy Keeler and Doreene Burgett as Wanda Hyde and Mary Ann Havens record their scores. Waiting to have their skills tested are Beverly Hyde, Cinda McElroy, Cynthia Tomlin, Nancy Evans, Laurel Kain, and Katherine Hamilton.

Students gather at the book shelves to help each other select reading material.

Students listen with interest as the prize winners are announced at the Magazine Assembly.

- he learns to listen...

From his first to his last day in school, the student looks to his teacher for guidance. The teacher must not only acquaint the student with facts, but also relay a contagious enthusiasm for the subject he teaches. The student needs to be encouraged to reach beyond the boundaries of the text or class lectures to uncover the fascinating particulars of the subject. Accurate, thorough, and earnest teaching induces the student to think. High standards set by the instructor impresses the student with the importance of honesty, sincerity, and maturity. Thus, through his teachers' example, the student learns the art of living.

Counselors give advice concerning students'

At a Department Chairmen meeting are: Mr. Gaylord Feick and Mr. James Overly, assistants to Mr. Sommerville; Miss Isabel MacLaren, English Department; Mr. Harry Anderle, Mathematics; Miss Marion Rowe, Science; Miss Caroline Winborn, Language; Mrs. Fern Lindsay, Business Education; and Mr. Cyril Smith, Social Studies. Generally Mr. Sommerville and Miss Wiese plan for regular meetings with the Department Chairmen where school procedures and policies are discussed.

Mr. Harold Miller, Mr. Charles Lutz, Mr. Allen Phillips, and Mr. E. James Patmos are shown at one of the scheduled faculty meetings.

Mrs. Helen Alexander, of the Home Economics Department, retired from teaching at mid-semester.

The students, faculty, and the administrators wish Mrs. Alexander much happiness in the years to come.

At the beginning of the second semester, P.H.H.S. greeted five new teachers and one student teacher. Above, seated, are Mr. Stanley Renner, who teaches in the Mathematics Department, and Mr. Benjamin Boyd, English. Standing are Mr. David Glenn, English; and Mr. Karl Hamrick, Student Teacher who works with Mr. Ralph Harrison in the Social Studies Department. Not shown are Mrs. Susan Kobel, Mathematics Department, and Miss Zoi Kozoni, Language.

EASTERN MICHIGAN COLLEGE OF COMMERCE offers graduates of Port Huron and vicinity an opportunity to complete an approved business course ranging from 9 to 20 months without leaving the community. Graduates who have started commercial courses in high school may complete such courses in less than the scheduled period of time. Because of its proximity to the Blue Water district, courses may be completed without the expense of board and room away from home.

THE STAFF AND ADMINISTRATION of the College join in wishing the graduates of Port Huron High the best of everything, and cordially invite them to join its student body if the best of business education is desired.

A Yearbook is -

Born Organized Developed Distributed

Advertising managers Marian Johnson and Sue Goldsworthy and Wendi Stevens, in charge of the Index, are happy as they meet the final deadline.

Carol Thorner and Cheryl Nido report that plans are set for Distribution day.

The 1964 "Student" represents for every student a glimpse of a memorable year. We sincerely hope that each student will find himself represented among these pages.

Without the co-operation of many people, this book would not be possible. We sincerely thank the Administration, the Faculty, the student body, Mrs. Rantanen's Advanced Typing classes. Mr. Frank Fulkersin, photographer; Mrs. Clara Wellman, Mrs. Virginia Forbes, Mr. Manville Miller, Port Huron Times Herald, the business and professional men. We are especially grateful for Mr. Al Weatherly, Jr.'s welcome assistance.

Our greatest thanks go to the Yearbook staff and to our advisor, Mrs. Daphne Rantanen, for their helping us to meet the demands of producing this yearbook.
